

Dear Kam Chohan,

On behalf of the International Forums of Inclusion Practitioners (IFIP), I am writing to invite the Educational Collaborative for International Schools (ECIS) to nominate an outstanding educator for a very special honour within our prestigious Global Inclusion Awards.

This year, we are proud to introduce The Kam Chohan Global Inclusion Award for Inclusive Leadership. This award, named in your honour, recognises leaders who have boldly challenged the status quo to create communities of belonging and safety for everyone. We seek to celebrate those who, like yourself, champion diversity, promote equitable access to education, and empower students of all backgrounds to thrive.

At IFIP, we deeply admire ECIS's dedication to providing high-quality professional development and support for international schools, and we recognise your personal contributions to the field of international education. Your leadership and vision have inspired countless educators to embrace inclusion and create schools where every student can flourish. This award serves as a testament to your impact and legacy.

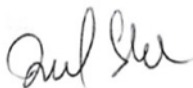

We believe your network encompasses many dedicated educators who are making a significant difference in the lives of diverse learners. We encourage you to nominate a teacher/practitioner who embodies the following qualities:

- A strong commitment to inclusion: The nominee should actively create a welcoming and supportive classroom where every student feels valued and respected.
- Innovative teaching practices: The nominee should demonstrate creativity and adaptability in their teaching methods to meet the diverse needs of all learners.
- Leadership in promoting inclusion: The nominee should inspire colleagues and the school community to embrace inclusive practices.
- Tangible impact on student learning: The nominee should have a demonstrable record of success in supporting the academic, social, and emotional growth of all students.

The recipient of The Kam Chohan Global Inclusion Award for Inclusive Leadership will be honoured at Bett ExCel London as part of the IFIP Global Inclusion Awards Ceremony on the Auditorium Stage, where they will have the opportunity to share their expertise with a global audience of educators and inclusion advocates.

We sincerely hope that ECIS will participate in this important initiative to recognise and celebrate excellence in inclusive education.

Warm regards,

Daniel Sobel
